

FRENCH GOVERNMENT SENDS ITS PLANS

Grand Trianon and Four Chateaux of Versailles to Be Reproduced.

CASCADE GARDEN DECORATION.

Landscape Architect Kessler's Scheme, and Electrical Engineer Rustin's Illuminating Effects.

Architectural and landscape art at the World's Fair was given wonderful impetus yesterday by the plan of an extraordinary display to be made by France, as revealed in plans received by the committee in charge, and the announcement of the scheme of Landscape Architect Kessler's scheme for the Cascade Gardens.

The French government, according to the report of the Commissioner General, will erect no less than five buildings, including the reproductions of the Grand Trianon, as previously given in the Garden of Versailles, and the four chateaux, which are to be reproductions of the most beautiful chateaux erected by Marie Antoinette in the Garden of Versailles.

One of these chateaux will be located at the southeastern corner of the French reservation, and application has been made to construct a restaurant there, in which the chateaux will be located at the extreme western end of the reservation, two in the southern and one in the northern corner.

OLD GARDENS OF VERSAILLES.
The intervening space is to be laid out in walks and flower beds, with cascades, statues and trees, in imitation of the old gardens of Versailles. When completed the French reservation will be a beautiful garden of Versailles, one of the most magnificent parks on earth, set down in the heart of the Exposition.

Basins with fountains and connecting canals will add life to the reservation. Mr. Lagrave has asked the committee to supply the water for the fountains, and to supply these depressions in the course of his grading of the site. The plan sent by the committee to the Commissioner General, and which will be the basis of the reservation, occupies 300 feet on Skinner road and 700 feet on the main road.

The ground plan of the Grand Trianon is in the shape of a capital, with square corners. The hollow of the capital will be the main road, called by Mr. Lagrave, the Court of Honor. Architect Kessler has decided that the Terrace of Skinner road will be an elm grove, nothing but elm trees being planted there. These trees are from 8 to 10 inches in diameter. Forty-two of them will be used. The largest trees will be planted near the restaurant pavilion at the far end, grading down to the smaller trees as the Terrace of Skinner road approaches in the center of the garden.

FIRST TREES ARE PLANTED.
The first of the trees of the leaves of the elms will supply a background for the Grand Trianon, which will be the main road, called by Mr. Lagrave, the Court of Honor.

The dark rich green of the leaves of the elms will supply a background for the Grand Trianon, which will be the main road, called by Mr. Lagrave, the Court of Honor. The Grand Trianon is a reproduction of the most beautiful chateaux erected by Marie Antoinette in the Garden of Versailles.

reached speeches made by the Kaiser's special representative sent here not long ago to select a site for his Government. He considered that it was impossible to have any of the 100,000 allotted to the Agricultural Exposition, and he decided to have the only way to secure this valuable addition to his department, which would be an additional appropriation, such as is provided in the bill before the committee.

A GREAT ICE-MAKING EXHIBIT.

French and German Manufacturers to Exhibit With One Another at the Fair.

The January number of the Refrigeration magazine devoted to the exhibition of refrigerating appliances, says that visitors to the Exposition will see the greatest practical ice-making exhibit, and the refrigerating machinery in actual operation ever displayed.

The committee informed without action, but there is little doubt that the bill will be reported favorably and passed.

GOVERNMENT BEGINS BUILDING.

General Contractors Erect Offices and Prepare to Place Foundations.

Preparations have commenced for the erection of the United States Government building at the World's Fair. Work is being done on the foundations of the main building, and the general contractors have been selected.

The installation of the concrete footings for the buildings will be commenced by the contractor for the building, and the foundation will be completed by the contractor for the building.

LADIES' TAILORS TO EXHIBIT.

Washington Association Asks for Space at World's Fair.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The Ladies' Tailors' Association of the World's Fair, which is a branch of the Washington Association, has asked for space at the World's Fair.

JERRY KAHLER FOUND GUILTY OF AIDING MAIL ROBBERS.

The Charge That He Was an Accessory After the Fact is Substantiated.

Jerry Kahler was convicted by a jury in the United States District Court yesterday of being an accessory after the fact in the mail robbery of a United States mail messenger December 11, 1901.

It was alleged that Kahler, who is a well-known resident of the city, aided the robbers by receiving the mail bag and hiding it in his home. The evidence against him was strong, and the jury found him guilty.

The jury deliberated for five minutes before returning a verdict of guilty. Kahler was sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of years.

MARRIAGE CAUSED SURPRISE.

Miss Gertrude Cutchin and Wm. A. Burgess Wedded Friday.

The marriage of William A. Burgess of St. Louis and Miss Gertrude Cutchin of Chicago took place Friday night, greatly surprising the friends of both parties.

Although it had been known for some time that a feeling of friendship existed between the two, the actual marriage was a surprise to all.

The ceremony was performed by a local minister, and the wedding party was large. The bride and groom were both well-known in their respective cities.

The bride, Miss Cutchin, is a daughter of a prominent family in Chicago. The groom, Mr. Burgess, is a successful business man in St. Louis.

The wedding party included many of the friends of both families. The reception was held at a large hotel in St. Louis.

The bride and groom are now residing in St. Louis. They are both well-known in their respective cities, and their marriage is a cause of much interest.

The wedding party was one of the most elegant ever held in St. Louis. The bride wore a beautiful gown, and the groom was in full dress.

The ceremony was a most interesting one, and the wedding party was a great success. The bride and groom are now happy and content.
